

Reviewer-2 Comments

I have consulted some literature on the methods described in this article and there are no similarities.

I personally believe that the data was researched by the author himself.

The method described in the article has been validated in methodology and can meet the requirements.

Based on this, I personally believe that this article does not need to be modified, and your publication of this article can provide relevant readers with a hint of significance.