

Colombian immigrants in the United States: Women stories of resilience

Comments

The topic is important. However, the paper needs more clarity on the significance of the problem. The relevance of research to social policy needs to be examined. There is a reference to social justice, but the explanation of how the content relates to social justice issues has to be enhanced. More citations should be provided for the reader to be satisfied that a good literature review was conducted.

Most of the evaluated literature needs to be discussed in more detail for the reader to determine its relationship to other research or the pertinent theoretical and methodological difficulties. Included is a description of how the planned study would address this issue or fill this research gap, albeit it may be made more precise.

The paper could be better organized, making it easier to follow. Occasionally, transitions exist, and those that do may be enhanced. The tone is occasionally colloquial. The grammar and punctuation are mostly accurate. However, there are frequent errors. Sentences are not always succinct, and word selection needs to be more consistent. APA style problems in citations, space, and headings.

If the author incorporates the suggested changes the paper can be accepted for publication.