

1. In the abstract section, the problems raised in this article are not very clear and the results of the statistical analysis are not described.
2. In the design section. the research design is not clear. Surveys are not model explanations but data collection methods.
3. in the limitations section, it has not been described for further research