

Reviewer-1 comments

The manuscript on intergenerational engagements and ageism is important for the scientific community as it enhances understanding of how interactions between age groups influence ageist attitudes. By reviewing existing research, it identifies knowledge gaps and suggests future research directions, aiding in the development of interventions to reduce ageism and promote inclusivity.

Alternative Title "Intergenerational Engagements and Ageism: A Systematic Review"

The article discusses ageism among healthcare workers. Why focus on healthcare workers?

Please arrange the references in alphabetical order using APA format.

This work is important for the scientific community because it addresses the issue of ageing in different parts of the globe. Particularly as this aspect is not taken into account on every continent.