

Author Response to reviewer-1

The feedback is well received. The charts have been removed, thank you for the input.

We have included the statement below the keywords: Authors have no competing interests.

A paragraph was added in the new Methodology section that mentioned the choices for these cities in the comparison.

Author Response to reviewer-2

Thank you for your valuable comments.

As a case study, the authors know the discussion is limited and a more rigorous academic study will be needed. This article is a case study to hopefully increase awareness of this issue and spark more research.

As a case study, the authors know the discussion is limited and a more rigorous academic study will be needed. This article is a case study to hopefully increase awareness of this issue and spark more research.

Thank you. Images and charts from other sources have been removed.

Thank you for bringing this to our attention. Verbiage has been changed to reflect a case study, rather than a review. A Methodology section has been added to explain how the case study was created.

Thank you for bringing this to our awareness. The conclusion section has been rewritten to make it half the length of the previous conclusion.