

Reviewer-2

Yes, community-based family caregiver support groups are important to offer and the study of interventions are needed with the aging population increasing.

The manuscript is well organized and each section flows to the next making it easy for the reader.

The references are old. The majority are over 10-15 years old.

I feel the topic and intervention is relevant especially with the aging population. The references are old but it's not enough for a revision. I would accept this article.
