

While some improvements have been made to the manuscript, the author still needs to address several major concerns. Many paragraphs and sections, including the Methodology, Data Analysis, Results, Policy and Practice Implications, Limitations and Strengths, Future Research, and Conclusion, still lack references. Additionally, there are references in the reference list that are not cited in the body of the manuscript. The author must integrate these references appropriately within the text. Furthermore, additional editing is needed to enhance the sentence structure in several paragraphs.
