

Reviewers comment-2

The authors have developed a strong research article capturing the moderating effects of religion on widowhood and mortality. The data analysis is strong and the literature review is comprehensive. This article should be published. I thought the conceptual model was reasonable. Great job.